WHAT WE'VE BEEN DRINKING... ...AND YOU SHOULD BE TOO

WHITE

Savennières "Cuvée Spéciale" (CHENIN BLANC),
Château d'Epiré, Loire Valley, France, 2015

64

Château d'Epiré is one of the oldest estates in the Savennières appellation of the Loire Valley. The estate has been owned and operated by the Bizard family since the 17th century! The winery itself is a Romanesque chapel dating back to the 12th century. The Cuvée Spéciale is a unique bottling made specially for the importer, Kermit Lynch. The grapes come from vines that are 30 years old and neighbor the famed Coulee de Serrant vineyard of Savennières fame. The juice is fermented in steel, then aged in large, old Chestnut barrels sur lie. The resulting wine is austere when young, but gives way to ripe exotic fruits, sharp minerality, and focused acidity.

MUSKATELLER mit Achtung, Loimer
Niederösterreich, Austria, 2016

92

Fred Loimer began practicing Biodynamic winemaking in 2006, and is one of the founding members of Respekt, a certifying body for biodynamic viticulture. While known for his single vineyard Riesling and Gruner Veltliner, Loimer is gaining recognition for his "mit Achtung" series which he refers to as "Slow Wine", utilizing minimal modern technology and time rather than shortcuts in the winemaking process. To make this Muskateller, Loimer spontaneously ferments whole berries in oak barrels for one month, followed by seven months of aging on the lees. The resulting wine displays the grape's characteristic nose intense with grapey and floral aromas, but shows a smokey and spicy intensity due to the month long skin contact. Ridiculously good and incredibly unique wine.

RED

NERELLO MASCALESE "Vigne Vecchie", Calabretta,
Etna Rosso, Sicily, 2007

72

The grapes for this wine come from 60 to 80 year old vines on the slopes of Mount Etna. The vineyards are farmed organically and the wine aging is very reminiscent of classic Barolo with extended time spent in large Slavonian oak casks in addition to years of bottle age before release. The wine is medium bodied with rich flavors of black fruit and a beautiful earthy complexity. The extended bottle age create a wine of unique feminine intensity and harmonious balance.
